From the Editor's Sanctum.

"COME OVER AND HELP US!"

Some two thousand years ago the cry came from the Macedonian Christians to the veteran Apostle, St. Paul, "Come over and help us." And how often has that same cry been reiterated over and over again during the past thirty or forty years from the Christians of that unhappy land to the Christian nations of Europe. But under what different circumstances! In the first case, the cry for help was given to the Christian teacher to come over and help the new converts to the Christian religion, to teach and strengthen them in their new found faith; and all through the ages to the present day that faith has been preserved. In later years the cry for help of the Macedonian Christians to their fellow Christians sojourning in the Christian nations of Europe, was not only for the preservation of their Christian faith, but from the horrible tortures and still more horrible deaths that were being inflicted upon them by their cruel oppressors, the Turks, who were slaughtering them and their innocent wives and children by the thousands; but, alas, their cries for relief were unheeded. True, meetings were held, indignation and fiery speeches were made, petitions and resolutions passed by the bushel, but not a hand was raised to protect and save them from the despot's hand who was doing his best to exterminate these Christians from off the face of the earth, the Christian nations standing idly by. The mills of the gods grind slow, and the long and bitter cry of these persecuted Christians has been heeded at last—not by the Christian nations, but the semi-Christian Balkan States, and the despotic and barbarous Turk is being driven practically out of Europe and forced back to Asia. The long-suffering and oppressed Macedonian Christian is at last being avenged. Things can never be the same again in that land. The Macedonian Christian will never again be under the heel of his cruel and merciless oppressor—the Turk. There are brighter and happier days in the future for this ill-used people, now they are forever freed from the despot's hand.

THE RANCHING COMMISSION

The sittings of the ranching commission, appointed by the Dominion government, which have been held in this part of the province, is of peculiar interest to us in this district, where the cattle ranching industry has been in vogue for so many years.

Some very important and trenchant remarks and suggestions have been made, and resolutions passed, by the several delegations that have attended the meetings held at Lethbridge, Macleod, Claresholm and High River during the past week.

The consensus of opinion as to the size of the leases was that the present leases were too large, that in future no lease should be for more than ten sections. Another very important point urged was that closed leases should not be for longer than fifteen years. At the Claresholm meeting strong hostility was shown toward tying up large areas of land to individual ranchers.

Still another very important fact was brought out, that provision should be made for the growing sheep industry in the province, which will be largely entered into by a great number of those interested in sheep.

At all the meetings recommendations were passed, urging increased bounties on timber wolves and coyotes, which were proving so destructive to the ranching industry.

The information gained by the commission will no doubt be of great use to the government in their endeavor in framing laws for the best interest of the cattle and sheep industry in Alberta. It seems to us, however, a mistake to confine these industries to a few privileged individuals by tying up hundreds of thousands of acres to these few, shutting off all competition, and practically giving them the control of the western cattle market, to the detriment of the country at large. Many farmers, particularly in Southern Alberta, have been painfully made aware that it does not pay to stake their all on grain growing; that mixed farming will, sooner or later, particularly cattle and sheep raising, have to be included in their farming. Many of these farmers, no doubt, would be in a position to go extensively into cattle raising if there was any land available from the government, under the same terms and conditions as the big millionaire cattle men have. But while these wealthy men are allowed to hold hundreds of thousands of acres of land, the ordinary farmer hasn't the ghost of a chance of getting an acre. This industry would be better promoted by several comparatively smaller leases, and would, besides, give our farmers a better chance to make good, and help at the same time to break up the existing monopoly of both the trade and prices. The cattle industry of Alberta, they tell us, is on the decline, and that its future outlook is very discouraging, and even alarming—hence this special commission by the government; but by giving smaller leases and giving more men an opportunity to enter into the ranching business on equal terms this now languishing industry would soon be reanimated and be made a good paying proposition by those in the business. Instead, as at present, being in the hands of the cattle millionaires, made so by giving them practically the exclusive cattle ranching monopoly.

Complain Farmers Work on Sunday

The attorney-general's department not infrequently receives complaints about people alleged to have been working on Sundays in defiance of the Lord's Day Act, and at the present time many of these complaints come from the rural districts, reporting some poor farmer anxiously working overtime to harvest his crops before the extreme severity of the weather prohibits his garnering them.

The deputy attorney general, L. F. Clarry, says that his department has not given the Mounted Police any instructions specifically

Wendell's Experience

He Learned His New Lesson Easily

By CLARISSA MACBIE

It was a busy day. Spring had arrived early that year, and in April the woolly banks of the Virginia brookside were starred thickly with delicate forget-me-nots and purple violets. The sun shone down warmly through the trees, changing the burning buds to misty green leaves until the whole wood was permeated with green light that shone through with smiling.

Jack Wendell tramped through the crisp leaves of successive years and with a violent, half defiant glance up the mistling road that led to Everglade Hall he thrust himself down beside the sparkling brook and picked remorselessly at the flowers.

"Forget-me-nots—rubbish! he ejaculated bitterly. "All women are false!"

"Tidbits to that!" retorted a sweet voice from the other side of the brook, started to observe a pretty girl munched in plucking violets and forget-me-nots and trying them into his basket. She wore a pink frock, and the background of green moss and the wood surrounding her she looked to Jack's bewilderment like a girl in white fairy evoked from the April day. Her hair was pink and white, and her half was golden, like the blue and white, and her eyes were like the blue sky and the flowers below. When she spoke to Jack she had flashed a very glance at him from under golden brown hair.

"Why rubbish?" demanded Jack argumentatively. "Oh, because," said the girl, looking at a completed bunch of violets with half closed eyes.

"I thought I smelled May's perfume," sniffed Jack, abandoning the argument for the while.

"I have a taskful here," said the girl.

"Making May baskets?"

"Somebody is going to make baskets. These are for the kindergarten class."

Jack flushed red. Phyllis Lambert eyed the kindergarten class in disdain.

CHILDREN DANCE AT FAIR.

No Matter How Elaborate Your Fall Bazaar May Be, You Must Call for a Share-While-Lasts the Favorite Make-Up for the Fair.

For Every Girl—This I Can supply you with a beautiful new idea to carry out in the bazaar you are getting up for the benefit of your country.

In the fall you will have lots of autumn flowers, so a floral fortune telling booth will be quite within your resources.

The setting that you will need for the flower fortune booth is a tent or arbor or a screened section among the trees, lined with greenery. Simple paper music stretched from tree to tree will answer the purpose charmingly and attractively.

The booth will be a simple affair of vines should form an archway, and the entrance may be screened so that no one may look in upon the fortune teller.

Within the booth there should be a long table showing all the latest little boxes or trays filled with dainty little cards and a small box of music with the center should be a very attractive affair.

Fortune telling patrons have the choice of three ways in which their fortunes may be revealed and interpreted. There is the fortune of the season, the fortune of the month, and the fortune of the day.

The fortune of the season is the most popular, and the fortune of the month is the most accurate, and the fortune of the day is the most interesting.

Good Things For the Economical Housewife.

People using articles made of rubber that frequently lose their elasticity through oxidation and reduce the material to its original condition by a simple process.

Show the part in a mixture of one part of ammonia to two parts water. This is particularly well adapted to the restoring of rubber bands, flaps and small tubing which are ready to become dry and brittle.

The rubber bands made at the London exposition have demonstrated that the shrinkage of meat when cooked to a cool range is less than that of meat that has been cooked at the same heat cooked in a gas range and considerably more than when cooked in an electric range.

A leg of mutton weighing eight pounds and eight ounces absorbed a shrinkage of two pounds and eleven ounces when cooked in the coal range, whereas a leg of mutton weighing nine pounds absorbed a loss of one pound and four ounces when cooked in an electric oven.

The shrinkage for the gas oven was two pounds and four ounces on an eight pound leg of mutton.

Grass on a kitchen floor can be softened by pouring kerosene over it and letting it remain for ten or fifteen minutes, then scrub with soda water.

Paint and varnish can be easily removed from the hands by rubbing with them some grease or oil, then washing with soap and water.

Shaily tarnished silver may be renovated by an application of copal varnish which a little bronze powder has been added. Keep in a warm place until the varnish is dry and hard.

It is claimed by the C.P.R. that the handling of the flax was preventing the rapid movement of the wheat and it was to facilitate the movement of the wheat that the embargo was put on.

The license commissioners for the province sat at Carmanagay on Friday, and heard a lot of evidence as to the granting of a license to the Victoria House. The town is fairly well divided on the question, and a lot of evidence as to population was taken. The commission at one time granted a license, but there was a great outcry, owing to the belief that the town does not contain any where near a sufficient number of people to warrant the granting of the license. Decision was reserved.

THEN AND NOW

Will Mr. Gladstone's prophecy about the Balkans come true?

"I wish to avail myself of this occasion for the purpose of clearly putting and clearly answering one question of vast importance. Who is it that ought to possess, who is it that ought to sway, those rich and fertile countries which are known as comprising what is called the Balkan Peninsula?"

"It seems to be agreed that the time has come, that the hour is about to strike, if it has not struck already, when all real sway of Turkish power over those fair provinces must cease, if it were only by reason of impotence. Who, then, is to have the succession to Turkey? From the bottom of my heart, and with the fullest conviction of my understanding, I will give you the reply—a reply which I am perfectly certain will awaken a free, a generous, an unanimous echo in your bosoms. That succession is not to pass to Russia. It is not to pass to Austria. It is not to pass to England, under whatever name of Anglo-Turkish Convention or anything else. It is to pass to the people of those countries; to those who have inhabited them for many long centuries; to those who had reared them to a state of civilization when the great calamity of Ottoman conquest spread like a wild wave over that portion of the earth, and buried that civilization under its overwhelming force."—Mr. Gladstone, at Edinburgh, November 29, 1879.

The Ranching Commission

At the meeting of the ranching commission held in Lethbridge last Friday, W. F. Stevens, live stock commissioner for the province of Alberta, made some very trenchant recommendations regarding the ranching industry in Alberta, which were very favorably received by the meeting. One of the most important was in connection with the size of the leases, which he urged should be small, not more than ten sections. His recommendations have been prepared with the approval of the minister of agriculture, Hon. Duncan Marshall, and were submitted in detail to the commission.

Chairman Pope declared during an animated discussion that "the cattlemen cannot have everything; the sheep men have certain rights."

W. C. Iver, for the woolgrowers' association, pointed out that the time has come when the sheep men have to be considered from the fact that where there are probably 500 ranchers interested in the cattle industry, there are 20,000 men in Southern Alberta, mostly farmers, who are interested in sheep, because it is being found that the sheep industry and farming go hand in hand. Regarding the number of cattle any lease should carry, the meeting recommended that 40 should be the minimum where part of the land is cultivated, and 25 to the acre carried where there is no land capable of cultivation.

The meeting recommended that bounties be paid as follows: For timber wolves, old, $50; young, $25; coyotes, old, $5; young, $2.50.

At Claresholm on Saturday decided hostility was manifested against tying up large areas of land in individual grazing leases, the contention being that the prosperity of the ranching industry is better promoted by several comparatively small leases than by large ones, which encourages monopolistic conditions.

A resolution setting the limit of 15 years to tie up land by means of a lease was adopted.

At the session at High River on Monday the usual ground was again covered, the ranchers being unanimous in asking closed leases for a period of not less than 15 years, while some contended the term should be extended to twenty-one years. The following resolution was adopted:

"That leased land should not be subject to the irrigation act, except in so far as the lessee is concerned."

It was also contended that the government should give more liberal assistance toward the extermination of the timber wolves. At present the Ranchers' association pays a bounty of fifty dollars for adult wolves and twenty-five dollars for pups, and it is held that if the government paid an equal sum, the timber wolf menace would soon be removed.

We have made arrangements with The Grain Growers' Guide, the only paper in Canada owned and published by the organized farmers, to supply it and the Cayley Hustler for $1.50 per year in advance.
